A VEIN of iron ore ten feet thick has been discovered on the farm of Judge W. H. Winn, near Lexington.

A LITTLE girl at Versailles swallowed some hot soup, which burned her so severely as to cause her death the next day.

THE price of gas has been reduced from $2 to $1.50 in Louisville, in consequence of the electric light making inroads.

AN eagle was killed in Washington county last Monday, which measured six feet nine inches from tip to tip of wings.

A LARGE lot of excursionists from Carlisle and Maysville passed through here yesterday for the Louisville Exposition.

It is said that a big gang of fishermen about Kiser's will be indicted at the present session of the grand jury, for seining.

THAT line of rifle-pits running across the Court-house yard is being severely commented upon by the citizens of the county.

MORGAN's men of Warren county, will hold a re-union at Richmond, on the 27th. Gen. Duke and Clarence McElroy will orate.

AN intoxicated man who hurrahed for J. E. Davis on Shinn's block, got lodging in castle de McFarley Saturday night and Sunday.

A SPECIAL train leaves Louisville now every Saturday night at 11 o'clock for Lexington, and will continue until after the Exposition.

J. M. LONG, a well-known commercial drummer, was elected sheriff of Adams county, Ohio, last Tuesday, by a fine large majority.

JOHN HOWARD, of Riddles Mills, was elected poor-house keeper yesterday, by the County Court.

REV. J. C. WEBB has organized at Bowling Green a club of young men who obligate themselves to eschew the use of liquors, tobacco, etc.

OCTOBER 25th has been announced as "West Virginia Day" at the Louisville Exposition, at which time the C. & O. will run a big excursion through.

WILD geese are flying southward. That is a sign that they are tired of staying in the North. The weather has nothing to do with their migration.

SOME of the Bluegrass planters prefer to cover their tobacco barns with tin. They think the curing process is more satisfactory under a metal roof.

CONDUCTOR FARMER, of one of the K. C. freight trains, missed his footing and fell from his train here Saturday, and broke the bones of his right thigh.

CRAFT was promptly hanged at Grayson, at 12:30 last Friday, by request of the law. He died proclaiming his innocence, and that Jim Heffn swore his life away.

AMBROSE WILSON, marshal of Sadleville, was shot and killed Saturday, by a drunken man named James Creighton. Wilson was to have been married next Thursday.

A SMALL wagon loaded with chestnuts from Estill county, was seen on our streets last week. The vender reported the chestnut crop short, on account of the drouth.

It's getting about time for the churches to dish out one small oyster and a bowl of cold soup to the natives, at 25 cents, and charge them extra for the grab-bag experience.

THE contract to put up the telephone line from Washington to Mayslick has been awarded to Mr. James Huff, at $60 per mile, and the work will be commenced at once.

A CRANK evangelist on our streets Sunday, while evangelizing as he walked, said: "Pity the poor man who dies in his sins, for when he dies he has a perpendicular diavel in him."

THE Richmond Register has discovered another turkey cock that has sat upon and hatched a nest of eggs, and is engaged in the motherly duties of scratching for the young brood.

MT. STERLING is badly torn up because the Montgomery County Court refused to submit to a vote of the county the $100,000 subscription to the Paris, Georgetown and Frankfort railroad.

SEVERAL flocks of partridges are still loose in this city. One flock was in the yard of the News residence Sunday and Monday mornings, and another large one in Elder Sweeney's yard. The country is also said to be full of them.

THE Bourbon Fair Grounds were rented Saturday to the highest bidder until January 1st, 1885, to Mr. Kelley, of Michigan, for $75. Mr. Kelley will open a training stable, and the probability is that we will be favored with some trots next Spring.

THE 8th of November has been pronounced by the Mohammedan prophets as the last day of the world, and proclamations have been issued from Mecca and circulated throughout Mohammedan countries warning the faithful to prepare for the end. In your preparations, gentlemen, don't forget to call by this office and see how you are rated.

THE first postal note to honor our sanctum, arrived yesterday, from San Diego, California, sent by "Doc" Witherby for subscription. In the transmission of the same, "Doc" sends kindly greetings to his many friends, and writes like he was busy but happy. Postal notes were issued in July, but the people here don't know it generally.

ELB. J. S. SWEENEY, pastor of the Christian Church here, who has just been re-elected for the 15th year, will engage the Rev. Thos. Hanford, pastor of the M. E. Church at Sardis, in debate, commencing on the 30th and continuing four days. Elder Sweeney affirms "That the Religious Position, Teaching and Practice of the Disciples, or Christians, are Scriptural." Rev. Hanford negatives this declaration by affirming the same proposition in behalf of the Methodists.

SATURDAY was "opening day" with our city milliners and notion dealers, and a good crowd of ladies from Maysville and surrounding towns were in looking at the pretty sights. At Miss Mollie Tully's and Mrs. Charlie Foot's the News was lost in admiration at two of the handsomest stocks of goods ever brought to this city; and at Mrs. Paton's notion store, where the work of a large class of Kensington embroiderers was on display, a truly dazzling feast to the eyes was beheld. Indeed we think that Mrs. Paton is fully prepared to offer all of the inducements of any New York teacher and dealer, in that most bewitching art—Kensington embroidery.

So Near and Yet So Far.

The two Presbyterian Synods of the State were in session last week at Danville and Harrodsburg, only ten miles apart. Although the two bodies interchanged fraternal greetings, they were too proud and haughty to kiss, embrace and bury the hatchet. When this is done, Presbyterianism will have a better influence on the outside world. There are no politics in heaven—neither should there be any of their disturbing influences in the churches here on earth.

Circuit Court.

CIRCUIT COURT is now in session the second day of the term, with Judge Jere Morone presiding his first time in this county. Hon. C. J. Bronston, Commonwealth's Attorney, is at his post hale and vigorous. The following Grand Jurors are sitting: W. T. Woodford, foreman; Alex. Butler, Jas. McLeod, Jas. S. Jacoby, L. M. B. Bedford, F. Soper, Jno. B. Kennedy, Jos. Neely, Quincy Burgess, B. F. Hinkle, J. W. Skillman, Jno. T. Garth, Jas. Whaley, J. N. Marsh, Chas. Stephens and W. B. Smith. There is a large docket of criminal and equity cases—among the former two of murder—Stivers for killing Scully, and Redmon for killing Secret. The former will be called to-day and will go into trial if the commonwealth is ready. The latter case is set for Saturday, but will probably not be tried this term in consequence of the Stivers case occupying the entire week. Among the visiting lawyers present are: Hon. Harry and Quincy Ward, of Cynthiana, Mr. Webster, of Lexington, Hon. Dan Vorhees, Indiana.

Redistricting of County Schools.

Wm. Myall, School Commissioner of the county, has just completed a redistricting of the county, in which there has been quite a change made in the districts of the Millersburg precinct. The Millersburg district has been changed down to Zed Layson's, and been extended to Hinkston, which creek forms the balance of the line on the South side. The Tarr district will be moved down to the bridge at Millersburg, the line being formed by Hinkston, running down to Mulcaha's branch, and it forming the Western boundary to Dave Bailey's toll-gate on the Rudleys Mills pike. The school house for this district is to be moved down to the grass lot by Ike Chanslor's spring on the Bob McClelland place. The Purdy district is to be consolidated with the Brick Temple district, and the school house to be moved to Steele's Ford. The new line south of Hinkston drawn so as to throw Harvey Thorn, John Jameson and John Marshall into the bridge district. All of this to hinge on the fact that the county court will take it before the grand jury in November. [Maysville Republican.]

THE Rogers Trial at Mt. Olivet.

Thursday was the day fixed for the trial at Mt. Olivet, of Samuel Rogers, Jr., for the alleged murder of Thomas and William Rogers. The defendants appeared in person and were represented by their counsel, Judge E. C. Phister, of this city, Thomas Kennedy, of Carlisle, and Judge Deming, of Mt. Olivet, the commonwealth being represented by Winfield Buckler, county attorney. The county attorney, as we learn, resorted to the illegal and extraordinary proceeding of trying to swear the magistrates off the examining trial, and not succeeding after various skirmishes, declined and refused to introduce any evidence against defendants who were earnestly asking for a trial. There being no testimony against them they were discharged and the prosecution dismissed. It is stated the county attorney will take it before the grand jury in November. [Maysville Republican.]

THAT Georgetown Sensation.

Georgetown society is laboring under an unpleasant sensation in the separation of George Higgins and his wife. Mr. Higgins is a wealthy young man who was raised in Lexington, and married a Miss Tucker, step-daughter of Harry Orr, partner of Mr. Higgins in the dry goods business. His wife is a very handsome and cultivated little lady, whose character we understand, has been fully vindicated from some scandalous charges set afloat, and there are some hopes of a re-union between the couple, notwithstanding the husband has placed Col. Frank Waters in the store for the settlement of his business affairs. Mr. Higgins, it is charged, drew $10,000 in bonds from the store safe, and departed for Florida, several days ago. Harry Orr and wife, the disconsolate young wife and her friends, have the deepest sympathy of many friends at this place. There are many rumors and theories set afloat as to the cause of the separation, none of which appear to be well authenticated, or even if they were, would hardly be proper reading for the public; we therefore will make no allusion as to the cause of their infelicitous domestic relations, and cast the veil of charity over the unhappy affair.

DOMESTIC.

THERE were one hundred members of the Bankers' Association in attendance at the meeting at Louisville, Ky., on the 10th. Comptroller Knox made an address upon the different systems of banking, comparing the National system with the old State banks before the war. He said the experience of twenty years shows the National system to be the best yet devised, having won to its support its former opponents.

"SPRINGHURST," the summer residence at Grover's Hill, Conn., of Thomas W. Pearson, a New York banker, was burned with all its contents on the 10th. The house was refurnished a year ago at a cost of $100,000.

The Episcopal House of Bishops, in session in Philadelphia, has given consent to change the name of the Diocese of Illinois to Chicago. The General Conference referred an amendment to the Canon providing that no person shall be eligible as a warden of any Parish who is not a communicant, nor shall any one be qualified to act as a vestryman until he has filed a declaration that he will conform to the doctrine, discipline and worship of the Church.

The little Maid of the Mist successfully ran the lower Niagara rapids on the 10th. She remained in the whirlpool ten minutes. There were ten thousand people along the river banks.

The New York Board of Aldermen have adopted a resolution requiring the Mayor to take immediate legal action to compel the restitution to the Treasury of all sums fraudulently taken, and to proceed against all persons through whose negligence or instrumentality the city has been robbed.

FOREPAUGH's show was attacked by a large party of roughs at Connerstown, Pa., on the 10th. The management placed revolvers in the hands of their employees and several of the attacking party were shot, but none of them fatally. Others were clubbed. Ten wagons belonging to the show were broken down and a number of horses were injured.

The Philadelphia Convention of the Association of the Directors of the Poor of Pennsylvania adopted a resolution declaring that the association disapproved of the training of children in almshouses or industrial homes, and recommended the disposal of almshouse children in either families or benevolent homes, the placing of them in respectable families being recommended as preferable.

The Western Union Telegraph Company handled forty million messages during the past year at a net profit of $7,600,000. The length of the company's lines was increased during the year ten per cent.

The heaviest shock of earthquake known since 1888 was felt in San Francisco on the night of the 9th. Many persons rushed half dressed from their houses and walked the streets the remainder of the night.

The Western Union Telegraph Company has offered the Chicago Board of Trade $10,000 a year for its market quotations, and a Minneapolis man has offered $4,000 a year for the exclusive use of the quotations in that city alone. Neither proposition is likely to be accepted.

A THRESHING machine crew of fourteen men, while sleeping in a grainery, near Moorhead, Dakota, a few nights ago, were buried under 1,400 bushels of oats, which broke through the floor above. Four of them were taken from under the oats dead, and four more were insensible for some time from suffocation.

A SMALL fire at 4 a. m. in the Brevoort House, New York, on the 11th, caused some alarm among the guests, and in five minutes the upper floors were entirely deserted. The servant girls were dreadfully frightened and behaved badly.

A CYCLONE demolished the little town of Arcadia, Wis., on the night of the 10th. The storm was preceded by air so charged with electricity that lights refused to burn. There was a strong odor of sulphur, which, with the darkness and the deafening roar of the coming tornado, caused strong men to quake with fear. Buildings were lifted from their foundations and torn to pieces. Bricks were thrown through the air with such force as to pass through the walls of the buildings left standing. People took refuge in their cellars, and but two persons were badly injured.

At Machias, Cattaraugus County, N. Y., on the 11th, telegraph men attempted to place poles in front of the property of Napier Bros., wealthy residents, when a fight ensued, and Edward Napier struck the foreman of the telegraph gang, J. Tyrrell, with a pickaxe, inflicting a fatal wound. Another man stabbed Napier. Pistols were fired and a riot followed.

A RAZZ fight occurred at Dover, N. H., on the 11th, between Dennis Delaney and Denny Cannon, the well-known athletes and pedestrians, before three hundred spectators. Forty-nine rounds were fought in an hour and forty minutes, when the police interfered and the fight was declared a draw. Both were terribly punished.

The result of the election in Ohio has had the effect of, in a measure, harmonizing the contending factions in the Democratic party in New York.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

A CABLE message received in Washington says there is no truth in the reported assassination of United States Consul Seymour, in Canton, China.

The Commissioner of Patents has overruled the Board of Examiners-in-chief and reversed their decision in the case of Sawyer & Mann vs. Edison, involving the priority of the invention of the incandescent conductor for an electric lamp, formed of carbonized paper. Priority of invention, is awarded Sawyer & Mann, who, it is held in the decision, completed their invention at least one year in advance of Edison.

THE condition upon which the Postal Telegraph Company is allowed to enter Washington City is that their wires shall be placed underground.

THE President has appointed Hon. George B. Loring, Prof. C. F. Chandler, Eliphazet W. Blatchford, F. D. Curtis and Prof. E. Salmon, a commission to investigate the curing of pork in this country.

REMITTANCES can be made to the lottery companies by postal notes in spite of the opposition of the Postoffice Department, but, as they are not as safe as registered letters or money orders, the companies fear it will cause their business to fall off.

S. R. CRUMBAUGH, Collector of Internal Revenue for the Second Kentucky District, arrived at Washington on the 8th to answer before the United States Circuit Court the charge of using Government envelopes and stamps for private correspondence. The opinion prevails that the charges grow out of personal enmity on the part of former attaches of Crumbaugh's office, and that an investigation will result in the matter being dismissed.

SURGEON-GENERAL CHAS. H. CRANE, of the United States Army, died at Washington on the 10th.

PROF. THE COMMONWEALTH.

THOMAS LEWIS, a convict sent to the Penitentiary from Covington, for two years for grand larceny, made his escape on the 2d inst., while at work on the extension of the Kentucky Central Railroad. Several days after he returned to Frankfort, accompanied by his mother and sister, and surrendered himself to the prison officials. They first went to the Executive office and saw Governor Knott. Lewis told the Governor that he had heard that his sister was sick and made up his mind to escape and see her, which he did, and then concluded to return to prison. He also asked the Governor to intercede in his behalf.

C. E. RAUZE, a gardener employed by George Moore, living several miles southwest of Louisville, was admitted to the hospital in that city a few nights ago suffering from knife wounds, and states that the father of his employer, at the dead hour of night, during a crazy spell, arose from his bed, carefully dressed, and stole to an apartment where the gardening implements were kept, and selecting a sharp, hook-bill knife used in pruning, proceeded stealthily to the room occupied by Rauze, and, seizing him by the throat, began cutting and slashing right and left, and chucking all the while with great glee at his maniacal and bloody work. The first cut was directly across the abdomen. Awakening under the knife, Rauze struggled most violently to relieve himself from the clutches of his assassin, who held him fast to the bed with one knee pressed against his breast and his left hand clutching him by the throat. In the struggle all Rose could do was to squirm under the knife and each time he turned he received fresh cuts, until one continual gash almost covered the entire circumference of his body. He finally succeeded in throwing himself from the bed. The room was perfectly dark, and a terrible struggle ensued for the knife. He finally succeeded in making his escape from the room and deadly knife. After howling around the house for awhile the old man came out from under his spell, and seeing what he had done, made his escape, and has not been seen since.

J. D. MOORE and Miss Louisa Anderson, an eloping couple from Montgomery County, en route to Aberdeen, O., drove over an embankment near Flemingsburg a few nights ago, breaking the buggy into kindling wood, injuring the horse so badly that he had to be killed and bruising themselves painfully. They borrowed another conveyance, resumed their journey, and were married before being overtaken.

MISS LIZZIE SHACKLEFORD, aged forty-one years, a domestic at Andrew Cawley's section-house near New Haven, was knocked from the track twenty feet in a ditch, crushing her skull and breaking her neck, by the second section of Barrett's circus train a few mornings ago. The train was within thirty feet of her when she started across, and when told not to go she increased her speed. She was the only support of an aged father and mother.

At Hazel Green, in Wolfe County, several days ago, the Police Judge, L. W. Maple, shot and perhaps mortally wounded one Butler Patrick, a notorious desperado and bully, who has figured conspicuously in many crimes in the mountains. Maple had just tried and fined two men, friends of Patrick, for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, when Patrick attempted to release the prisoners from the custody of the Court, and offered violence to the person of the Judge, whereupon the Judge produced a pistol and fired three shots, two of which took effect in Patrick's body, one hitting and breaking the collar bone and passing inwardly, and the other striking him in the side, producing probably fatal wounds. Maple is a young lawyer, and a prominent man in this section.

The streets of Louisville are being paved with stone blocks six inches by four and a half inches deep, the interstices being filled with pitch and gravel.

JOHN HORNEAK, aged about sixty years, a wealthy and respected farmer of Henry County, died at his home near Eminence a few days ago of Bright's disease of the kidneys.

Weekly Review of the Louisville Leaf Tobacco Market.

The receipts for the week were 230 hogsheads against 440 hogsheads last week and 140 hogsheads in the corresponding week last year. The market has been the strongest known during the course of this remarkable year. Demand has been very keen and very general, and with entirely legitimate, at least in the sense that it has not come from buyers operating for a turn. On the contrary there has been considerable realizing on stocks bought some time ago, in all cases, by the way, at handsome profits, and the purchasers have been parties who have bought for domestic or foreign consumption. The demand is every week pressing more closely upon the limits of supply, and prices naturally favor sellers. The general rise on dark and heavy tobaccos has been 1/4c. on lugs, and 1/2c. on leaf. Good and fine redried fillers have not been tested on the breaks, but the domestic demand for the old types is active, and they fully share in the general rise. Barley tobaccos have been very brisk and prices strong. Fine and fancy grades are probably no higher, but everything below that class has an irregularly advance. The crop is cut, except a fraction of the late planting. The acreage appears to have been about equal to that of last year, and the condition about 25 to 30 per cent. lower. The yield is probably about 75 per cent. of that of last year. From all accounts the greater part of the crop is not leafy, but is sound and colorful. We quote full weight packages as follows:

Dark and Heavy. Barley.

A man appeared at a San Francisco police station and said he had been poisoned by his wife. He described minutely the circumstances of the poisoning, asserted that the dose was put in his coffee, and then, falling in spasms, he died. The wife was at once arrested, but on examination it was found that there was no trace of poison, and that the death was from apoplexy.—Denver Tribune.

—There is a woman in Rosendale, N. Y., who claims that she did not know it was unlawful to have two husbands.—Troy (N. Y.) Times.

Death of a Jack Ketch.

William Marwood, common hangman of all England and the latest professional successor to Jack Ketch, died a day or two ago and now there is not a person in Great Britain or Ireland who is authorized to strangle criminals on the gallows. He was a shoemaker by trade and a public executioner by profession. Calcraft was his immediate predecessor and instructor, and when that worthy died a dozen years ago Marwood got the appointment under some pretense that he had discovered a new way of hanging people without pain. He took great pride in his singular vocation and has frequently been heard to say: "Hi never makes a botch of a job. When Hi lets the chap drop 'e's done for, and don't make no fuss by kickin' and strugglin'. I's always civil with the poor devils as can't help themselves, and the neater the job the better 'e's satisfied." In spite of his boasting, however, he did make a botch, and a terrible one, at a hanging that took place in Durham only two or three weeks ago, but his awkwardness on that occasion was charged up to an immoderate dose of rum. Indeed, like many other useful public functionaries, he is said to have brought his valuable life to a close by too much drink. He was only about fifty years of age, but is credited with having "worked off" nearly four hundred persons first and last—the men at fifty dollars a head and the women at seventy-five dollars. Among his recent patients were the Phoenix Park assassins in Dublin. His entire business brought him an average income for the last twelve years of something like $2,000 annually, besides what he made in the boot and shoe line and by the sale of leather laces to those who came to see him out of curiosity. He was honored soon after his accession to office by having his image placed in Madame Tussaud's show of wax figures in London, and his name was used to frighten children with in the north of England.

The true glory of the hangman who decapitated traitors with an ax and then burned their entrails in public and stuck their bloody heads on the spikes of London Bridge and Temple Bar. He did not enjoy the luxury of scourging pickpockets at a whipping-post by the Old Bailey, or flogging women at the cart's tail upon the bare back, or burning them at the stake when they had killed their husbands or made counterfeit money. He did not know how it would seem to press a man to death because he would not plead in court, as was done in numerous cases in Old England and in one case in New England two hundred years ago, and did not even have the pleasure of burning heretical, treasonable or blasphemous books in the market place by order of Parliament or high court. The common hangman has but little now to do in comparison with his important services in former times, and it may be that the abolition of capital punishment will extend from Michigan to England in the course of the present century, and that Mr. Marwood's immediate successor, who has not yet been named, will be the last British representative of the tribe of Jack Ketch.—Detroit Post and Tribune.

Humphrey Marshall.

Humphrey Marshall, of Kentucky, was a burly Congressman who weighed at one time over 400 pounds. Born in 1812, he was educated for the army, but, after having graduated at West Point, and been commissioned as Second Lieutenant, he resigned and studied law. An eloquent speaker, he soon became one of the leading members of the Kentucky bar, then headed by Clay and Crittenden; but on the breaking out of the Mexican war he took the field as Colonel of a regiment of Kentucky volunteer dragoons. This was probably one of the bravest and best drilled volunteer cavalry regiments in any service, and its gallant services at Buena Vista, where Colonel Marshall led it into the thickest of the fight, were the admiration of all who witnessed its heroic exploits.

Entering Congress in 1849 as a Representative from Kentucky, Colonel Marshall soon took a leading part in debate, and as a humorous speaker ranked next to Tom Corwin, of Ohio. Marshall's secret was the indulgence in "forty-wink naps," which, by the way, enables Governor Butler to stand such fatigue. One moment the brilliant Kentuckian would be uttering an original remark, and as you still listened a muffled snore would come from his phlegmatic flesh. Yet this state of balm sleep would be but a flash. His eyes would twinkle again, his cheeks would expand, a breath-puff would denote his relief, and he would go on with the conversation as though no slumberous moment had broken the thread of his discourse. This Rip Van Winkleism in broken doses was also indulged in by Colonel Marshall in the court room. He used to snooze at least half the time, but upright in his chair, law books and brief before him, in the midst of the trial of the most important cases, even while his opposing attorney was addressing the Court or jury, yet his ears seemed ever awake, and no fact essential to his client's interest was ever lost.

Colonel Marshall was an inveterate gambler, and when he was appointed by President Fillmore Minister to China he lost the money paid him at the State Department as an "outfit." Luckily for him, the keeper of the gambling house was Jack Pendleton, who prided himself on being "a Virginia gentleman, sir!" belonging to one of the first families, sir!" He loaned Marshall money enough to get to China with, and used his potent exertions to have Congress raise the grade and consequently the pay of the Chinese mission.

Meanwhile Colonel Marshall "saw Sam," and drifted from the old Whig party into the National Americans, and thence into the Democracy. In 1857 he was re-elected to Congress, and in 1861 he espoused the secession cause, although Kentucky remained firm for the Union. Marshall was made a Confederate Brigadier, and he served throughout the war. When the silver-toned trumpet of peace was heard, he resumed the practice of law at Louisville, Ky., and died at Louisville, of pneumonia, on the 28th of March, 1872.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

WHILE the New York medical doctors are busy fighting over their code, the health of the city is improving.

An old junk ring has been organized for the purchase of navy remnants at New London, New York, Pensacola and other places of sale.

CARMI, Ill., is soon to have a new Court-house on the site of the old one in which Abraham Lincoln made his first speech that opened the campaign in 1840.

The anatomical branch of the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania has now in full blast a crematory for the consumption of human flesh from the dissecting tables.

As AN illustration of the strength of paper, a bank of England note twisted into a kind of rope can suspend as much as 329 pounds avoirdupois upon one end of it and not be injured in the least.

The chronic borrower thinks it strange that, with money down to 2 per cent. per annum in New York, and dull at that, he is finding it so difficult to obtain little accommodations on long time.

The hull of the little French steamer recently launched is composed of a strong sheet of card-board ten millimeters thick. The vessel will carry seventy-five passengers and three tons of freight.

The St. James Gazette says the elocutionary method of American tragedians, though it would have been admired in the time of the Kembles, is too measured and stately for the English taste of the present day.

The British Medical Journal says the pathology of emotional death is of great interest, and varies in different cases. In some instances a fatal issue results from sanguineous apoplexy; in others, and much more frequently, from shock to the heart.

The Albany Evening Journal says: "The excessive protection of the woolen industries has fostered the production of an overabundant supply of woolen goods. They are a drug on the market, and liquidation has become necessary as in other branches."

In Switzerland during the summer just passed, lightning was known to strike in vineyards and kill all the vines, several hundred in number, within a large circular space, the severity of the shock being most plainly marked in the center of the circle.

A PARTY of Philadelphia capitalists have 1,000 acres in sorghum at Rio Grande, N. J., and expect to turn out 1,000,000 pounds of good sugar this season. The sorghum seed is fed to hogs, and in addition to the sugar the farm is expected to yield $30,000 worth of pork.

HERE is an item from an Iowa paper that may be localized almost everywhere: "Parents should keep their young daughters in-doors at night. Clandestine meetings between young school girls and young men of doubtful reputation are becoming too common and dangerous."

In England children of the best society are taught to say "father" and "mother" and to regard "papa" and "mamma" as vulgarisms, and on a par with "daddy" and "mammy." The father and mother children continue to be respectful, while papa and mamma degenerate into "the Governor" and "the old lady."

Of its land bounty from the Government, the Northern Pacific corporation has parted with three million acres in Dakota, and still holds eight millions. It has 19,000,000 acres in Montana, 2,000,000 acres in Idaho, and millions upon millions in Oregon and Washington Territory.

COLONEL PIERCE, of the Chicago News, says the first time a man looks at an advertisement he does not see it; the ninth time he wonders if there is anything in it; the fifteenth time he resolves to try it as soon as he can afford it; the twentieth time he rushes frantically forth and buys the article advertised.

The recent reduction by the Diamond Match Company is over 50 per cent., or from $5.10 per case to $2.25 and $2.50. The first result of the repeal of the tax was to increase the profit of the manufacturers, but a number of small makers came into the field, and this competition has forced the Lucifer ring to lower their prices. The gain will be felt in every household.

CHARLES O'CONNOR is reported as saying of Payne's "Home, Sweet Home": "There isn't any excellence of language or structure. The piece as a whole is on a par with the sentimental songs of the negro minstrels. The tune is all that has kept the words from oblivion, and that was an old Sicilian air, stolen by Payne."

THE "Free-Soil Society," recently organized, is said to have branches in twenty-two States. At a recent meeting of a ward "group" in New York resolutions were adopted to the effect that "private ownership of the land on which our city is built must and of right ought to be abolished, and we will not vote for any candidate for a legislative office who is known to be opposed thereto."

FARM AND HOUSEHOLD.

The best authorities assert that cows should go dry at least six weeks before calving.

The potato crop nearly all over the country is reported to be unusually fine. In Eastern Pennsylvania some phenomenal yields are reported. In Bucks County many fields produce three hundred bushels and more per acre.

If the carpet in a bedroom or common sitting room looks dusty after it has been thoroughly swept, you can brighten it a good deal by taking a damp mop and dusting with it: a flannel mop is best for this purpose. —N. Y. Post.

Mushmade in this way is excellent: Boil a quart of water. Stir a pint of cold milk with one pint of corn-meal and one tablespoonful of salt. Pour this into the boiling water gradually, and let it boil for half an hour. Watch it carefully to prevent burning. —N. Y. Post.

A writer in the New York World says that he had a variety of sweet corn with tall stalks, and ears set high. By selecting only the lowest ears formed on the stalks, regardless of their size or general appearance, he has produced a corn in every way equal to the original, but with the ears set comparatively low on the stalks. The fodder part of the plant has also been materially reduced in size.

It is a current assertion that dark colored clover seeds are more sure to germinate than light colored ones. Professor Beal has tried some experiments on this point. In 1877 over twenty-three per cent. of dark colored seeds grew, and about eighty-three per cent. of light colored seeds. In 1881 the experiments resulted in favor of the light colored seed. The experiments seem to show that on an average there is not much difference in the germinating power between the different colored seeds. —N. Y. Graphic.

An Eastern editor describes a second crop of clover on a farm where pasturing has been entirely abandoned for the last four years. He says if farmers will quit pasturing their tillage land entirely and adopt the soiling system, their farms will in ten years double their present productive capacity. The field of clover was forty per cent. better than any other seen since harvest, and was better, because it had not been pastured for a number of years. The corn and other crops are also good, and the fertility and productiveness are almost entirely owing to the soiling system as practiced by the owner.

Keeping Butter.

The following method of storing butter for keeping, in Great Britain, as detailed by T. G. Clancy, contains some points of interest to the American reader: The butter cellar should be cool, and in piling the butter care must be taken not to pile too near a window through which, at any part of the day, a direct ray of sun can play on the firkins. If a firkin of butter is placed in such a position that ever for an hour each day one side of it is so exposed to the direct rays of the sun, and that it remains so for a considerable time, it will be seriously injured. Do not pile the butter against a damp wall or in a very damp spot. See that the drainage of your butter cellar is perfect, and that no bad odors come into it from the sewers, which should be carefully trapped. The cellar should be well ventilated, but without a great draught, which would tend to dry up the butter and the firkins, causing the staves to open and admit the air. Always place the firkins standing on end, with the heads up. If the butter has to be kept for a long time it should occasionally be brined. Make a strong brine of clear water, and the cleanest and best salt (not sea salt) that you can procure. Let it rest for a day, so that the water may take up as much of the salt as it will hold in solution, stirring it now and then. Pour this brine over the timber heads of the firkins without opening them, filling up to the top of the chime, and if it runs very quickly through, renew it. This has a double effect. The brine that gets into the butter preserves it, and the moisture running down the seams of the firkins swells them and makes them air-tight. For very long keeping it is well to bore a large gimlet hole in the heads to admit the brine into the butter; but you should be provided with plugs or stoppers, which should be hammered in tightly after the brine has gone down. It is not necessary to brine butter for short keeping. If it be good keeping butter it will do without, and if it is not, should it be weak, overhauled, milky, or too rich, brining will not cure it.

Saving Seed.

Every farmer can do much to improve his crops by carefully selecting his seed. This is a well known fact, but it is too infrequently acted on. It may not be practicable for the farmer in the case of the small grains to select individual ears and preserve them for seed, but if plots of the best filled and strongest growing grain were selected and threshed separately from the wheat, or that or barley field, no one will deny that much improvement might be made in these crops with very little trouble or expense. There are other crops of which it is easy to select the best individual specimens, the choicest ears of corn, or potatoes from the best and most productive hills. The best time to do this is at harvest. As the potatoes are dug, the best specimens of the finest and the hills can be readily preserved, and the trouble will be an hundred fold repaid in more abundant yield. The best time to secure seed corn is when it is being cut. Select such ears as you desire and keep them where they will not freeze till perfectly dry, and if they are never exposed to cold below freezing no harm will be done.

It is a good plan to put aside grain suitable for seed, a little more than will be needed. It is much better than to run around the neighborhood after seed oats or barley or buckwheat when it is time to sow them, and generally at much less expense. It is but little trouble to save many garden and flower seeds, and will not only save many five-cent papers of seeds, but perhaps disappointment. Besides the best can be selected, true to name and sure to grow. Even if the money saving is small, the convenience and satisfaction will be large. —Detroit Post.

A Miraculous Plant.

The discovery of a plant of great therapeutic virtue is said to have been made at Tonquin. The bark of this plant, it appears, is even "more medicinal than that which Hermes once told Ulysses gave," as it not only cures hydrophobia, but diphtheria and the bite of reptiles. Wherever it has been applied in cases of the above mentioned diseases, the cure has been almost immediate, but, on the other hand, it has proved a violent poison in cases where it was not applicable. The healing virtues of the Hoanghan, as the plant is called in the Annamite language, were until a short time ago only known to a single native family. But after they were converted to Christianity the secret was communicated to the French. The plant and its miraculous qualities are described at length in a work by M. Lesserteur, formerly a missionary in Tonquin, and now Director of Foreign Missions at Paris. —Pall Mall Gazette.

The Monotonous Roar.

"She had a little boy with her as she sat down in the street car beside a lady acquaintance, and drew out: "Oh, you don't know how glad I am to get home again. We were away seven weeks."

"So long as that?"

"Yes, indeed. You don't know how monotonous the roar of the sea becomes after a week or two."

"I've heard so."

"Ma, what sea are you talking about?"

"Suddenly put in the boy."

"Hush, child."

"But Uncle George lives up in the woods in Isabella County, and it was all woods and mosquitoes, and snakes, and such old beds and poor living that you cried to come home. Is that the kind of a roar you heard?"

The other lady was awful good. She looked out of the car window and began to talk about the weather. —Detroit Free Press.

Substitute for Gutta-serena.

A perfect substitute for gutta-serena, which claims to be far cheaper than that useful material, has been patented by a German chemist. The process of manufacture may be briefly described as follows: Powdered gum-copal and sulphur are mixed with about double their bulk of oil of turpentine or petroleum, and are well heated and thoroughly stirred. After being allowed to cool to a certain temperature, the mass has added to it essai in weak ammonia. Once more it is heated to its former temperature, and then is boiled in a solution of nut-gall or catechu. After some hours' boiling, the product is cooled, washed in cold water, kneaded in hot water, rolled out, and finally dried. If, as stated, the manufactured article cannot be detected from real gutta-serena, and will answer the same purposes, it will have wide application, if only for the insulation of electric wires and cables, and for the making of gut-balls. —Chambers-Journal.

—In Boston: "Ma, I really think I shall marry Mr. Perkins." "Well, my dear, if you must, you must, I suppose." "I can't see, ma, why you should object. Mr. Perkins is rich, he is actually a nabob, ma." "A what, my dear?" "A nabob, ma; you wouldn't have me make you, ma?" —Indianapolis Journal.

Rescued From Agonizing Death.

NEW YORK.—Mr. James White, 1552 Broadway, formerly chief instructor in Dicks's Riding School, in this city, said to a newspaper reporter: "I broke my shoulder, arm and elbow, splitting the socket in four parts. Rheumatism set in and I employed the best physician. He tried everything, but I grew worse, and at last he said: 'I have one more thing to try and if that fails nothing can give you relief, and that is St. Jacobs Oil.' I used this great pain-reliever, and am able to use my arm, free from all rheumatic trouble. I have also recommended the remedy to a number of people, and in every case they have been speedily and effectually cured."

KEELY says his motor can not make its trial trip this winter because of a miscalculation in the "chromatic scales of the vibrator."

ONLY TWO BOTTLES.—Messrs. Johnston, Holloway & Co., wholesale druggists of Philadelphia, Pa., report that some time ago a gentleman handed them a dollar, with a request to send a good catarrh cure to two army officers in Arizona. Recently the same gentleman told them that both the officers and the wife of a well-known U. S. A. General had been cured of catarrh by the two bottles of Ely's Cream Balm.

Advice to Consumptives.

On the appearance of the first symptoms of a general debility, loss of appetite, pallor, chilly sensations, followed by night sweats and cough, prompt measures of relief should be taken. Consumption is a curable disease of the lungs; therefore use the great anti-scorbutic and blood-purifier and strength-restorer, Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." Superior to Cod Liver Oil as a nutritive, and unsurpassed as a tonic. For weak lungs, spitting of blood, and kindred affections it has no equal. Sold by druggists. For Dr. Pierce's treatise on consumption send two stamps. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATES, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE FATHER OF FISH-CULTURE.

Seth Green's Ideas About the Finny Tribe and Some of His Varied Experiences.

(Turf, Field and Farm.)

"How did you ever come to devise this scheme?"

"I have been working at it ever since I was large enough to hold a pint."

The above remark was addressed to Mr. Seth Green, the veteran fish culturist, who is known to the entire world, and his reply indicates the extent of his labors.

"When I was quite young," he continued, "I would lie on the limbs of trees that reached out over the water entire afternoons watching the movements of the fish and studying their habits. In this way I discovered many characteristics which were before unknown. I saw, as every observer must see, the destructive elements that were warring against fish, and I realized that unless something were done, the fish in the streams of the country would become extinct. To counteract this disastrous end became my life work, and I am happy to say I have seen its accomplishment."

"Were you successful on the start?"

"No, indeed. Up to that time all artificial attempts to hatch and raise fish from the spawn had failed, and I was compelled to experiment in an entirely new manner. The first year I carried out a million eggs, but I finally succeeded, and to-day I am able to hatch and raise fully seventy-five per cent. of all spawn."

"How is that?"

"I know it, but we exercise the greatest care in the start, and guard the little fellows until they become able to care for themselves."

The foregoing conversation occurred at Caledonia, where the representative of this paper was paying a visit to the State Fish Hatchery. It has been his privilege to report very many interesting sights within the past twenty-five years, but the view presented here exceeds in interest anything ever before attempted.

"How many fish are there in those ponds, Mr. Green?"

"As we have never attempted to count them it will be impossible to say. They extend way up into the millions though. I have counted over three million out of the ponds this year, and there seemed to be as many afterward as before. We have nearly every variety of the trout family and many hybrids."

"You speak of hybrids, Mr. Green. What do you mean by that?"

"I have experimented for years in crossing the breed of the various fish, and am still working upon it. We cross the female salmon trout with the male brook trout, and thus produce a hybrid. Then we cross the hybrid with the brook trout, which gives us three-quarter brook trout and one-quarter salmon trout. This makes one of the finest fishes in the world. He has all the habits of the brook trout, lives in both streams and lakes, develops vermilion spots on his sides, rises readily to a fly, is far more voracious and fully one-third larger than ordinary brook trout of the same age. The possibilities of development in the fish world are great, and we are rapidly ascertaining what they are."

As the man of news watched the countenance of Mr. Green while he was giving the above account, he could not but feel that he was in the presence of one of the few investigators who, from a rich and life-long experience, bring great benefit to the world. Let the reader imagine a strong and stalwart frame, surmounted by a head strongly resembling that of Socrates, and covered with a white, silky beard and luxuriant gray hair. Seth Green, the father of fish culture, is a picture of health, and the reporter could not help remarking so.

"If you had seen me the last winter and spring, young man, you might have thought differently. I would the veteran said. "How is that?" One would think, to look at you, that sickness was something of which you knew nothing."

"And so it was until last winter. I went down into Florida in the fall to see what kind of fish they had in that State and study their habits, and was attacked with malaria. I was very weak, and when I came home I realized for the first time in my life that I was sick. My symptoms were terrible. I had dull aching pains in my head, limbs and around my back. My appetite was wholly gone, and I felt slack of energy such as I had often heard described but had never experienced. Any one who has ever had a severe attack of malaria can appreciate my condition. I went to bed and remained there all the spring, and if there ever was a sick man I was that one."

"It seems hardly possible. How did you come to recover so completely?"

"My brother, who had been afflicted by a severe kidney trouble and threatened with Bright's disease, was completely cured by a remedy in which I had great confidence. I therefore tried the same remedy for my malaria and to a happy result. I am a well man to-day and at through the instrumentality of Warner's Safe Cure, which I believe to be one of the most valuable of medicines. Indeed, I see it is endorsed by the United States Medical College of New York, and that Dr. J. M. Deane, of that institution, has written a long article concerning its value."

"And are you now as well as formerly?"

"Apparently so. I will keep the remedy on hand all the while, and do not hesitate to recommend it to others."

"One question now: How many ponds of fish have you hatched and how are they doing?"

"Well, we have 42 ponds, which are divided up as follows: Twenty-two ponds of brook trout, 2 ponds of salmon trout, 4 ponds of rainbow trout, 2 ponds of the man trout, 3 of California mountain trout, 2 ponds of hybrids, 4 of one-quarter salmon and three-quarters brook trout, 2 ponds of gold fish, and 1 pond of carp. These are well watered and the Centennial pond or 'happy family,' consisting of a cross of different fish, including Kennebec salmon, Land Locked salmon, California salmon, brook trout, bass and carp. These fish are raised in range in size from minnows to 15-pounders, and in age from one and one-half months to eleven years. I forgot to say, also, that we have a 'hospital' pond, which is entirely empty, which speaks pretty well for a community of many millions. Indeed, the whole secret of the fish culture can be summed up in four things. In preparation, no water. In feeding, no food. Plenty of pure water and cleanliness."

The numerous fish exhibits now which are taking place in all parts of Europe and the United States, which is being used, and in this subject throughout the world, will owe their origin to the process above described as originated and conducted by Seth Green. It is certainly a case for emulation for every American, that the country produces so many men whose genius brings value to the world, and it is proof positive of the greatest merit that a man can have with such high standing as Warner's Safe Cure is known to have. It should be so strongly endorsed and recommended by one so reputable and reliable as Seth Green.

Walnut Leaf Hair Restorer.

Is entirely different from all others. It is as clear as water, and, as its name indicates, is a perfect Vegetable Hair Restorer. It will immediately free the head from dandruff, remove gray hairs, and induce the hair to grow again. It is known to have fallen off. It does not in any manner affect the health, which Sulphur, Sugar of Lead and Nitrate of Silver preparations have done. It will change baldness to hair in a few days to a beautiful glossy brown. Ask your druggist for it. Each bottle is warranted. JOHN D. PARK & SONS, Wholesale Agents, Cincinnati, Ohio, and C. M. CRITTENDEN, New York.

A WOMAN'S AFFAIR.

Mrs. N. H. SHALL, the wife of the popular Deputy Sheriff and Assessor of Topeka, Mo., writes us on May 15, 1893: "That she had been severely afflicted during several years with kidney and liver disease, accompanied with severe pains and backache. Having tried many remedies, and medical men and doctor's prescriptions, without receiving any benefit, and while seeking for a cure, she noticed the advertisement of Hunt's Remedy and decided to try it. Having bought a bottle of Mr. Hunt's Remedy, she commenced using it with such startling results that she continued its use, and after using only five bottles the improvement in her health is so marked that she wishes all who are afflicted in like manner to know of this most reliable medicine and to use it. She cheerfully recommends Hunt's Remedy to all, and especially to females who are troubled with the complaints peculiar to the sex."

A FAMILY BLESSING.

Under date of May 10, 1893, we have received the following information from Mr. Lorenzo Lombard, of 18 Charles street, Portland, Me.: "My wife and I, for several years past I have been troubled with severe backache and pains in the side, and when I would lie down I could not rest, and it seemed impossible for me to get into an easy position, and my back and pains increased constantly to such an extent that I became convinced that I had a disease of the kidneys fastened to me, and after having used doctor's prescriptions and many of the so-called cures without getting any benefit, I was persuaded by a neighbor, Mr. Jones, to try Hunt's Remedy, as himself and wife had been greatly benefited by its use, and many others of our acquaintances spoke of its merits in the highest terms. I decided to try it, and purchased a bottle of Hunt's Remedy, and as soon as I had taken a few doses of it the pains in my back were relieved, and after taking three bottles my sideache and lame back were cured, and I can truly testify that Hunt's Remedy is an article of great merit, and will cure all that is claimed for it, and I know of many other people in Portland who have found a cure in Hunt's Remedy after all others failed to do any good, and I recommend it to all who are afflicted with kidney or liver disease, and that this may be the means of relieving some sufferer who does not know of the merits of Hunt's Remedy."

Misses Mollie Knight, Kate Parnell, Nora Wadell and Miss Maude Smedley have returned from Louisville.

If the names of the whites who attended the negro saturnium can be learned they will be published next Tuesday.

It is futile to look for any gesture in the interest of public decency, on the part of owners of halls, so long as they get their rent.

A country-man here read of the recent assignment of the Government store-keepers, and asked "why so many of them were breaking?"

"Squire Jameson says that on March 26, 1855, he expects to get over in the public square and preach the Republican party's funeral. So mote it be.

Harmon Stitt says "I believe the entire Amazon outfit was composed of fearless young creatures with sharp elbows, tight hair and crooked noses."

Jno. Betsey shot at another negro in Bryan's Hall, but luckily missed him. Death loves a shining mark and dark objects are thereby snuffed.

The two cent stamps will be the cause Postmaster Boulden's death. He is paid a per cent on all cancelled and unless there is more writing done he'll starve.

Mr. "Bug" Oliver is very busy telling that he spotted the head of this department. In this, as in everything else, he displays an ignorance that is refreshing.

Bud Oldson, Click Shaw, Grant Oweley, and Frank Peculiar, of Paris, "dude" up our little village in fine style Sunday. It they come back any more our masses will set the dogs on 'em.

Stuart Johnson attended the public sale of jack stock at Richmond, Saturday, and bought a fine jack 14 hands and one inch high, 6 years old, for which he paid $300. He will take it to Texas.

Dirty Sally Baller drunk, gave vent to her cussedness, and was locked up Saturday night. Just so long as she is befriended by a white family she will shock the modesty of the town.—[Don't flunk.]

Young man, be good and you won't be punished by this department. Don't talk about shooting either, for you undertake that, you'll be punched so full of holes all the plasterers will want you body for a sieve.

This town should be placed under roof and designated a "military and manufacturing establishment." Everybody sews and everybody trims hats; and who in reason they sew and trim for nobody knows.

Marshall Ballenger fain would bedeck himself in uniform and go forth as a bold Sir Knight seeking whom he may overcome. He was put on test Saturday night and acted nobly. The Department will soon promote him.

J. W. Birdwell has written a letter from Greensboro, to our post-master, inquiring of one Thos. A. Marshall who represented he was just from Colorado, and was desirous, to whom he loaned $9 until he could reach friends at this place.

A young lady of this city is thinking of having a festive young fellow arrested for breaking the seal of an envelope addressed to her. The case would prove one of great interest, inasmuch as the couple once appeared as stars in a little drama called "Love."

Prof. La Fayette's little swindle held the boards here Friday eve. The "Prof." advertised that he was the greatest living magician and would give valuable presents to ticket holders, but as a magician he was a failure and as a donator of valuable presents he was a fraud.

Joe W. Miller is the witness that "Hon." Sam Rogers was permitted to come to Millersburg after. The people here, have not ceased talking about that false "Justice" that pitches her snatched and pickled old crime over all lawlessness that smacks of wealth.

An up-town married lady asked James Collier "what her calves were worth?" Collier said to her that "he didn't know—he had never seen them." She said "Oh, you fool, I mean have you seen my calves in the country?" He replied "no, madam, I have not seen your calves in the country."

On page 107 of the Kentucky "Journal of the Senate" can be found a readable supplication from Lewis Vimont asking that he be reimbursed for heavy losses sustained by contracting to build the Winchester and Lexington turn-pike. The document is dated Millersburg, December 24th, 1843.

Miss Nannie Miller having made a trip to the Louisville Exposition, and a close examination of all the latest styles in cloaks and dresses in Louisville and elsewhere, has returned home and commenced her fall-work in dress-making, notwithstanding the rumor set afloat that she would not work this season.

Henry Letton has returned from Texas, where he has been settling up his father-in-law's estate. He sold 3-year old steers for $32, and yearling cows for $25 per head. He reports all kinds of cattle high and on account of the ranch business, and says that cattle are taken and grazed at $1 per head per year, on fenced ranches.

Joe Newhall, of Paris, put 150 feet of new steam pipe in the Female College, last week.

Thomas V. Hall forsook the Lexington Ice factory, as cold weather approached, and struck out for Florida.

Dr. Gould attended the marriage of Miss Crain, a former pupil at Hillsboro, Fleming county, last week.

Here's a long story briefly told: Two Carlisle girls, bosom friends, got married; one to a Nicholas county man, and the other to a Missourian. The Missouri lady returned to Carlisle on a visit, and of course sought her friend. The girls were delighted at meeting and arranged to room together that night. They didn't room together though; the Missouri gentleman waxed warm and said his wife shouldn't do anything of the kind; not very much; Oh! no, not any; and so she didn't and how all Carlisle is excited because of the occurrence.

People competent to judge, unite in saying that no louder, more indecent or shocking saturnium ever took place in this town, than that at Bryan's Hall Saturday night. This hall is located in the heart of the village; decent people live all around it, yet nearly every Saturday night it is rented to a gibberish gang of rowing negroes, who scream, swear, fight and use obscene language and break the law in a thousand different ways. Talk about a "disgrace to the town," there's one. Why strive to detect the person who fires an occasional bomb, when such a big-handed outrage upon decency and order is passed with a few simple condemnations?

"B'ER B'AR."

The Governor has offered a reward of $200 each for the three rapists who committed that hideous crime in Franklin county last week.

If an intelligent and fair-minded jury was wanted, it wouldn't take the lawyers fifteen minutes to select a jury to-day. But that is not what they want, therefore it will take them two days to select one.

The rush for the two-cent stamps is so great that there is fear at Washington that the supply will run short. The belief is that the number of letters carried will be about one third greater than it was under the three-cent law.

The vote of Ohio on Tuesday will give encouragement to the Democrats over the United States. It will have a decided effect in Massachusetts, and New York will most assuredly sustain her reputation of last year. The Republicans cannot now hope to win in 1854.

MARK our prediction: The Democracy will elect and install the President to the next two terms; after which Republican party will make a National issue of the temperance question and they will sweep the Union cleaner than Lincoln did on the abolition question. You see that they will do it, and more than that, they will stop its manufacture, except perhaps, by the Government, for medicinal and manufacturing purposes. When it comes to that, you can safely count one half of the Democracy with them both head and shoulders.

Elder J. S. Sweeney wants woman suffrage for one year, to vote the whiskey out of the Union, and is afraid to trust them any longer, for fear they will be some corrupt too. The same per centage if they are already too corrupt, and here are just as many dead beats among them. This appears a little rough on the fair sex, but ask the merchants, lawyers and newspaper men, and they'll all tell you that it is only too true. There is one lawyer in this city whose experience has taught him there are twice as many dead beats among the women.

USUALLY it takes people a year to learn that which they could learn in five minutes by reading the papers. Postal notes have been recently brought into use for the benefit of those desiring to remit fractional currency or even large sums through the mails. We dare say that not one fourth of the people are aware of the new postal notes being issued. For the remittance of sums less than five dollars, the postal note costs but three cents. For over that amount, in proportion to the sum remitted. We respectfully call attention of our subscribers in arrears to the new postal notes.

THE election returns of Ohio and Iowa are an interesting study. Heretofore, as a rule, when the Democrats have won victories or made great gains their boom was in the cities and large towns. When the Republicans have held their own or made gains in the cities they have usually shown increased strength in the rural regions. In short the country has always been regarded as the Republican fort. It is so in New York and other Eastern States as well as in the West. But in the results of Tuesday's elections we see just the reverse of this. The Republican losses were almost wholly in the country precincts, while as to Ohio, they made considerable gains in the big cities. The same thing is true, substantially, of Iowa.

—OF A—

VALUABLE FARM.

As agent for the Willmot heirs, I will sell at public sale, on THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 8th,

on the premises near Hutchinson's Station, half-way between Paris and Lexington, on the K. C. Railroad, with the branch of the Belvidere and Hopewell turnpike running in front of the door, the farm of which is perhaps as good land as there is in the county or bluegrass region. The farm contains a good brick residence in good repair, good water, orchard, ice-house, barns and all necessary improvements. Sale at 12:30 p. m., which will give ample time to attend the sale on the trains and return thence to either Paris or Lexington. Terms liberal, and made known on day of sale. J. SMITH KENNEY, Agent.

—OF—

VALUABLE LAND.

On SATURDAY, October 20th,

I will sell at the Court House door in Paris, Ky., any farm situated on the Paris & Kiser's Station turnpike, 1/2 mile from Paris, adjoining the land of George White, Henry Isgrig and David Hume. There are six or seven acres in the tract, all under cultivation, and is No. 1 tobacco land. The land is under good plank fence, well watered, and is a very desirable piece of property. TERMS—Five hundred dollars to be paid cash in hand, and notes for one and two years at 5 per cent. on the deferred payments. LEONIDAS LEAVELL.

PARIS PLANING MILLS.

GEO. B. MINTER, — MANAGER.

SOLICIT orders for Doors, Sash, Blind, Moulding, Brackets, Finish Timber and prepared carpentry. Will not contract in absence of houses. Orders for lumber or mill-work may be sent per telephone from Overby & Co.'s office on Bank Row. J. M. TURNER, Proprietor.

HOTEL FOR SALE.

HAVING DETERMINED TO MIGRATE, I will offer at private sale, the BOURBON HOUSE, the principal hotel property of Paris. The house is large, roomy and located in the old and business portion of the city, and has a fine paying trade. Will sell the house and fixtures at a bargain. For full particulars, call on address HENRY TURNER, Proprietor.

—PROFESSIONAL—

HAVING severed my connection with Prof. Sanders' school, I will hereafter give my undivided attention to my private pupils. To those desiring my professional services, I pledge my utmost exertions for the advancement of those entrusted to my care. A. M. GUTZEL.

Tired of Booming Backwards

and have determined to build one of the best mills in the United States (capable of 150 barrels), with all the recent improvements in the art of milling. I have in past 12 months raised some of the very best class mills in the country and been corresponding with some of the first class millwrights in the United States, and after thoroughly going myself and with God's blessing and never being weary hope to boom ahead in the milling business my long past experience in millwrighting and other kinds of machinery I think warrants me in saying no mill such as I propose the Paris Mills in making good points made in 12 months and in 18 months, in the meantime, took we have on hand and supplies I will purchase from the very first class mills will supply my customers as fast as they are coming elsewhere we will furnish you. Will exchange mill products for wheat and corn. Ever Kindly and Respectfully Yours, Wm. SHAW, Paris Mills, Sep. 28th, 1853.

NEW MILLINERY SHOP

MRS. DR. J. B. SMITH, Millersburg, Ky., has received a fine line of new millinery goods and will constantly add all new features of the business as the seasons advance. The goods are new, pretty and varied. Prices reasonable. Mrs. Katie Davies presides as trimmer, and perfect satisfaction will be guaranteed. Call early and often.

FOR SALE PRIVATELY.

I desire to sell at private sale, my residence at Shawhan's, Bourbon county, (late the property of Richard Isgrig), and my lot where the store recently burned down. The residence is an elegant frame cottage of the latest improved plan and is in 2nd story, good garden and yard, and is well watered. The store-lot has good foundation on which to build, and is a splendid stand for a country store. I sold $2000 worth of goods at the stand in eleven months. For full particulars, address the undersigned. A. M. KELLER, Shawhan, Ky.

GRINDING.

While Bro. Shaw is torn down, I will grind corn on Wednesdays and Saturdays for customers. J. M. THOMAS.
